NOTES

Class - VI compositions

Subject - English

Topic – How daddy wrote two

C. 1. Vasya spent his summer in the country.

2. Vasya went to swim, fish and walk in the woods during summer.

3. Little Daddy helped Vasya by writing down his composition for him.

4. Little Daddy wrote two compositions.

5. Little Daddy realised that one can never learn anything if one does not do one's work by oneself.

D. 1. Little Daddy said this to Vasya. He said it because what Vasya wrote was barely a composition, as he had summed up his entire summer in just three sentences.

2. Vasya said this to little Daddy. These words show that Vasya was a good friend to little Daddy, who did not exploit his friend for his own gains and cared for his assignment as well.

3. Their cheeks were flaming because they were both embarrassed with the outcome of the situation. Vasya did not enjoy being praised for something he did not do, while little Daddy did not like being scolded for something that was not his fault.

E. 1. Little Daddy and Vasya were close friends. Both of them lived next door to each other and spent all their time together. They walked to school together, shared a desk, and then walked back home. Vasya, who was very good at arithmetic, helped little Daddy with his sums. In return, little Daddy helped Vasya with writing compositions. They would only quarrel with each other but made up just as quickly. The two continued to share a desk for many Years and remained the best of friends.

2. Little Daddy wrote two compositions, one for his best friend and one for himself. When all his efforts to guide Vasya to write his composition failed, little Daddy took matters into his own hands and wrote a long composition for him. After Vasya thanked him and left, little Daddy sat down to write his own composition. But he found himself stuck. He had the same summer experiences as Vasya, and he could find no new words to describe them differently. Short of time, little Daddy quickly wrote whatever he could, and his composition turned out to be very poor.

3. The teacher was very impressed by what she thought was Vasya's composition. She said that it was the best in class. It was excellent, interesting and had no errors. She even read it out in the class. But little Daddy's second composition, which he had written for himself, was not received well. The teacher called it the worst in class as she read it aloud, not knowing that both the best and the worst compositions were written by him.

4. Vasya and little Daddy were red with embarrassment when the teacher read out both compositions. Neither had expected such a result. Vasya was uneasy with all the praise he received for the work he did not do, and little daddy was ashamed of his poor composition.

5. The important lesson that the two boys learnt from this incident was that true success comes from one's own effort and responsibility. No one can really learn or improve if he/she does not do his/her own work. Self-reliance and honesty are the keys to growth and success.
