NOTES

Class - VII

Subject - English

Topic - Indian Weavers

- A. 1. The weavers say these words.
  - 2. The weavers are weaving a marriage veil for a queen.
  - 3. It means the colours of a peacock's feathers-purple and green.
- B. 1. The three events mentioned in the poem are dawn, dusk, and night. These refer to birth, youth, and death respectively.
- 2. The weavers compare the robes of a new-born child to the blue wing of a halcyon bird. Then, they imagine the marriage veils of a queen to be as colourful as the feathers of a peacock. Lastly, they compare a dead man's white funeral shroud to a feather and a cloud.
- 3. Yes, the weavers are affected by what they are weaving. They are happy when they weave clothes for a baby and the wedding veil for the queen, which are bright and colourful. However, they are sad and gloomy when they weave the funeral shroud.
